Kidnapped Here, Now Safe

Know Your Town and Let It Serve You

This article is written in an attempt to acquaint the newcomer to Marin City with the various resources of the community. We hope to clarify what to do when the plumbing goes on the blink; when your neighbor's child (or your own) gets hold of some matches and starts a blaze inside or outside the house; when there is an automobile accident or someone is taken ill; when you learn of a person who has lost his job and is in need of help; when you need advice or supervision for your children? Here are some answers to these questions.

PHONE CARD

In every house and apartment there is supposed to be a directory posted giving the phone numbers of the Maintenance Department, the Fire and Police Departments and the Medical Center. If such a card is not in your house or apartment, go to the Rental Office and obtain one for your own benefit. The phone number of the Medical Center on this directory card is out of date and should be corrected to read Sausalito 886. Both day and night calls are answered on this number.

FAMILIES AND CPS

Any family living at Marin City is eligible to join the California Physicians' Service Prepaid Medical Plan. Membership in this plan makes doctors available to you at Marin City and provides broad financial protection to you and your family in the event of sickness or accident.

RECREATION PROGRAM

A supervised recreation program for children and teen-agers is available to residents of Marin City. In this program children are free to come and go as they wish. However, while they are at the playfield during the day in the craft program or in the Community Building, they are under the supervision of trained recreation workers. A recreation schedule is published each week in The Marin Citizen. To help defray the cost of the craft supplies, children are asked to bring pennies, but that is all. You are urged to have your children take advantage of the recreation program. If you wish to bring your child down yourself the first time and make the acquaintance of the recreation leaders, they will welcome you and be glad to tell you more about the program.

BABY CLINIC

Every Wednesday morning there is a Well Baby Clinic at the Medical Center, conducted by the County Public Health Department. The purpose of this program is to keep babies well rather than to treat sick babies. The first time you go down you need not bring your baby, but can go alone and make an appointment for your child at some future date. A doctor is available to examine your child (any pre-school age child) and to make any indicated recommendations. This service is available to any well baby in Marin City.

USO-TA HELP

The USO-Travelers' Aid has a cottage near the highway road and welcomes any family who has a social, financial, or employment problem. Both service personnel and civilian families who are in need of information about any particular problem are welcomed at the USO-TA cottage. The director of this organization is Mrs. Marie Larson who can be reached by telephoning Sausalito 136.

CHILD CARE

If you are a working mother with a child or children to be cared for, you should go to the Child Care Center in the Community Building. If the child is between the ages of 2 and 15 years, he may be cared for under trained supervision at a charge of 75 cents a day. A large meal is served in the middle of the day; there is a snack period, a nap period, and supervised recreation provided within this program. Children of nursery school age are cared for throughout the entire day. Youngsters of school age are cared for during the day when they are not in school. For further information on the child care problem, see Mrs. Peterson at the Community Building or phone her at Sausalito 1280-J.

Any further questions about your community which are not answered in the above article can be taken up at the Project Services Office, House 401.

Facts on Marin Citizen for Our New Residents

Our circulation boys and girls report that new residents of Marin City are not familiar with The Citizen and are asking why they should pay for the newspaper. For the benefit of those who are unfamiliar with the salient features of The Citizen we publish the following information:

The Marin Citizen was formed by and for the residents of Marin City in July, 1943, to provide a free community paper. It was initiated by the Marin City Council.

It is distributed, without charge, to every resident of the town on Friday. It is supported solely by its advertising. At the end of each month your Citizen carrier will come to your door to solicit a voluntary contribution to pay him for his job of delivering the paper every week.

Any small sum which you contribute to a carrier is kept by him and is the only reward he receives for the circulation work.

Teeners Have Fun At Dances and Club Meetings

It was fun, fun, fun at last Friday night's teener dance. At least everybody seemed to have a champagne spirit and nobody said the dance was "moldy". With this in mind, let's remember tonight's dance, Oct. 12.

The re-opening of the Teeners' Club (House 399) was postponed last Wednesday and moved up to this coming Wednesday, Oct. 17. The teeners voted the postponement because they felt that there had been insufficient publicity and they wanted to be sure of a big crowd on opening night. According to present plans the teeners' building will be open from now on every Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock.

The Wednesday night activities are under the supervision of the Recreation Department with the aid of parents who have volunteered their services to act as a teeners' advisory committee and help the Recreation Department maintain a program for the teeners. New parents to act as advisors on the teeners' activities are welcome. Those interested are asked to list their names with Miss McLarnan in the Recreation Department office, House 401.

Formerly much of the volunteer leadership given to the teeners came from Mr. and Mrs. Earl James to whom the community owes a real vote of thanks for the many hundreds of hours they devoted to the program.

Medical Center Phone Number

Marin City's Medical Center wishes to call attention again to the change in their phone number. Day and night phone calls should be made on Sausalito 886.

Mrs. Schwert Relates Horror of Lost Child

Judy Schwert, age 5, daughter of Mrs. Schwert, Apt. 50-397, Marin City, was kidnapped October 9 at 9:30 a. m. by J. C. Evans, age 42, while playing near her apartment. After an absence of at least two hours Judy was returned to her mother's arms by local and county police. The child's first words to her mother: "Momie he wanted to buy me an ice cream cone. He told me to get in the car."

Town Must Keep Digging Hard For Chest Drive

The Marin War Chest Drive, as of the day we went to press, was still going full blast. We of Marin City are out to raise a quota of $1000. Several other cities throughout the county have already achieved their set goal. In this community we have yet to reach our objective.

It is hoped that our readers are familiar with the numerous outstanding aids the funds from the Marin War Chest Drive have given to needy people of the county.

All money collected in Marin City for the War Chest Drive actually remains right here in your own city for families needing help. The $1000 goal is for your own good and the good of future residents of this community. After the money is raised it is turned over to the Marin War Chest, who in turn hand it right back to the Marin City Welfare fund.

The amount of money collected must be sufficient to give reasonable financial help, not for one family, but perhaps hundreds.

Whether the drive ends or not, contributions can still be donated at the Marin City school. Collections are in charge of Mrs. Earl James.

Let's dig . . . let's not be the black sheep city of the county!

Truman Backs Us On Vital Programs

This week President Harry Truman requested the Appropriations Committee of the House of Representatives to vote in favor of appropriating funds in order to continue the Child Care and Recreation program with Lanham Act funds.

Many readers recall the campaign The Marin Citizen has carried out to enlist the public's aid in the continuance of these programs. During the war years both programs were carried on under the provisions of the Lanham Act. In the last month it was announced that the funds would no longer be available after the end of October.

The President of the United States has put the matter before the Appropriations Committee of the House for action. Truman asked that the Day Care program be continued through March, 1946. For the Recreation program he requested an allocation that would carry the program through the end of 1945.

Farmers and other persons who need passenger tires will have a quota of 2,500,000 to draw from during the month of October. Truck tire quotas for October are 500,000 small size tires, size 7.50 and under, and 250,000 tires size 8.25 or larger.

Mrs. Schwert is employed by the Empire Laundry Company in Sausalito, where she was working at the time of the kidnapping. Judy was in the care of a friend who was told by a neighborhood youngster that Judy was seen getting into a gray truck. The local police were immediately notified, as well as Mrs. Schwert.

Judy told her mother that the kidnapper, Evans, did buy her an ice cream cone as he promised, and then took her for a ride to the Tamalpais woods.

During their two hours in the woods Judy was not harmed physically, though Evans did make questionable advances to Judy, according to Mrs. Schwert. The examination given the child by Dr. Hartman at Ross General Hospital disclosed that there had been no criminal attack. Mrs. Schwert did say, however, that when her daughter was returned to her she noted a skinned arm and leg on the child. Asking Judy about this her daughter told her that the kidnapper and she had been walking up and down hills and that she had fallen and scratched herself. This was later verified in a confession by Evans.

Little Judy Schwert, dressed in a red dress and wearing a red ribbon in her hair, was interviewed yesterday by The Marin Citizen. At this time she was smiling and placidly playing on the front porch of the family's apartment, seemingly immune to an incident which she will probably never forget.

Mrs. Schwert was still extremely nervous and worried looking. Her hands were shaky and her words hesitant. She hasn't yet fully recovered from the shock. It is hoped by Mrs. Schwert that she can place Judy in a private school at the earliest possible date. Up to now she hasn't been able to enroll her daughter in the local school due to overcrowded classes. While she has been working a neighbor has been taking care of Judy during the day.

The Marin City police, according to Mrs. Schwert, did an exceptionally thorough and efficient job in apprehending the criminal and returning Judy to her. She wishes to extend her thanks to them.

Mrs. Schwert has been a resident of Marin City for about six months.

Vol. Firemen Hold "Stag"

A smoker and stag party will be held Thursday evening, October 18th, at 8 o'clock, Brown's Hall at Locust, Mill Valley. The affair is sponsored by the Mill Valley Volunteer Firemen for the benefit of their sick and relief fund. There will be entertainment and games, with an award of a $50 war bond.

Names to Remember Both Old and New

Regretfully we have received news that Mr. and Mrs. D. Dinsmore and son have left Marin City for their new home in Watsonville. Mrs. Dinsmore was one of Marin City's leaders in community work and her departure is felt keenly by all those who knew and worked with her. Their son, Glen, was one of the top circulation boys for The Marin Citizen. Mrs. Dinsmore was active in the city's Woman's Club, the Red Cross, and assisted this paper in circulation. The family had lived here almost from the day the city was first built.

Another prominent local citizen no longer with us is Jess Draper, who moved from Apt. 65-520. Jess, his wife and son have left for Southern California. Mr. Draper, in addition to his work at Marinship, was active as advertising manager for this paper at one time.

The Tredici family of House 131 packed up their bags last week to take up life in their newly-purchased home in San Anselmo. Mrs. Del Tredici was one of the first chairmen of the church committee which was responsible for building Marin City's only rectory.

With the leaving of the old we welcome the new. It is hoped that those coming into

Policy and Teamwork

This is the first issue of the Citizen-Mirror and it is fitting at this time to say a few words about the policy of the new combination of Marin County's two most progressive weeklies.

First, the editors of the Mirror and the Citizen will work together for a continuance of the most thorough coverage of their own localities. This combination of talent and effort will give the readers of the Citizen-Mirror the most complete coverage of news and advertising in the County of Marin—TWICE A WEEK.

The policy of the papers, now combined, will remain the same in a general manner of speaking. However, more and more emphasis will be centered on the welfare of the returning veteran and his problems of rehabilitation and readjustment. Also further support of child welfare, a serious problem now facing all of the communities of the United States.

The staff will remain intact with new additions added from time to time to carry out the objective of thorough, honest and complete news coverage for the readers of the Citizen-Mirror.

The success of this new combination somewhat depends upon you, the readers. It is YOUR paper, YOUR news and YOUR community. We must work together! Marin County has a great future. So have we! We plan to go ahead with Marin and not be stuck in the old rut of pre-war days.

That, simply, is our policy.

The Editors.

The City—A Jig-saw Puzzle!

A stranger drove into Marin City the other day. As he parked his car in the commercial center he was stunned by the number of homes and the straight, twisting, hidden streets. Where to turn? Where's house 561 or Apt. 22? Do you know? Residents who have lived in their own city for several months are not qualified to give directions to themselves, let alone a stranger visiting the city.

There are any number of methods which would help alleviate this muddle of bewilderment. At a central point in Marin City a large bulletin board with a directional map showing house and apartment numbers could be placed. Perhaps even a more cogent answer to the problem would be to put up street signs, like they have in all cities.

Also the maps that are now posted in various hidden places, which very few people known about, are of little value in their present condition. In order to read them one must frown and practically stick his nose next to the map to make out where House 601 is. They're badly faded and would be far more legible with a little retouching.

The Citizen advocates some action on the part of the housing authority for these minor improvements. It is also hoped that members of the city council will push this suggestion.

It's certainly late, but not too late.

Recreation Talk At Community Council Meeting

Marin community's council of social agencies met yesterday, Oct. 11, at the Red Cross Chapter in San Rafael to hear Mrs. Marion Coffey talk on the county recreation program. Director of Marin City's USO-TA, Mrs. Marie Larson represented our community at the meeting.

Year Ago in Marin City

The Marin City Council adopted a resolution at its meeting last Sunday night, to organize the War Chest Drive in Marin City, and set the goal at $1000.

Editor of The Marin Citizen, James San Jule, left this week to take over another job.

Plans were made for Marin City's second gay Press Club Frolic. A jive San Francisco orchestra, jitterbug contest, door prizes, hot dogs and soft drinks were all a part of the festivities.

Mrs. Marie Larson, USO Travelers' Aid director of Marin City left this week for a month's leave of absence.

Last Monday the Marin City Trojans played their first game of the football season with Mill Valley, which in the past week defeated San Rafael, 66 to 0. The Trojans lost, 3 to 0.

The first teener band rehearsal was held last Wednesday evening under the direction of "Champ" Nixon, from Tiburon.

The nursing staff of the Marin City Medical Center were hostesses at a luncheon last week honoring Miss Alice Horisson, regional director of U. S. Public Health.

Marin City's pie and cake booth at the Grape Festival raised $87.40 for county charity last Saturday.

Over one hundred residents attended the Founders' Day party of the Marin City Women's Club on their second anniversary held Wednesday, October 4th, in the lounge of the Community Building.

The town's Teener Council will hold their elections this Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evening's at the 399 Club.

Residents of Sector 5, behind the Community Building, discovered all their clothes lines nearly clipped in two when they went to hang up their clothes Sunday morning.

Verne Lindburg, public affairs chairman, told the council that it was time to plan Halloween costumes for Marin City's children.

The community pot-luck supper last Sunday was enlivened by a birthday cake for Councilman Earl James, baked by Mrs. Dan Allen.

The Arthur D. Ettels, residents in Marin City since the early days of the project, are moving Sunday to San Francisco, where they are buying a new home.

A Vet Speaks

Veterans are Doing Well at Stanford—But . . .

At one of the most expensive universities in the U.S., three hundred veterans of World War II are today receiving a free education. It's a real treat for many former servicemen to be able to consider any university or college in America. He can say to himself: "I can enter Harvard, Stanford, Yale, Chicago or any university of my own choosing." Four years ago these veterans never imagined entering any one of these schools at government expense. It's quite an unusual offer the government is giving thousands of veterans and one that few will pass up.

According to Robert S. Raven, training officer and vocational rehabilitation advisor of the educational division of the Veterans' Administration at Stanford, the majority of veterans are doing well in their studies.

Mr. Raven reveals that those who have no savings behind them must take part-time work. This is because the $50 subsistence allowance the government gives is not sufficient for living. When this is the case the veterans take jobs at the school "hashing", gardening, or menial jobs off the campus. Through this extra work they get enough pay for their three meals a day. A married veteran entering a college or university finds it even more difficult to live than the single man. He gets $75 a month, and if he has any children it's practically impossible for him to make passing grades at the "U" and keep his family. For the single veteran who is doing outside work and receiving full government subsistence allowance, the sliding is tough. A married veteran with children should think twice before entering a college or university.

Mr. Raven states that none of the veterans at Stanford are complaining about the lack of funds. After all, the government is paying their tuition, which is a big slice of money, especially at "The Farm". However, the veterans are hoping that Congress will take action on the proposed revision of the GI Bill of Rights which would enlarge their monthly subsistence allowance.

Raven also suggested that veterans who are entitled to a free education, whether it be for a year or four years, think carefully about the school they select in relation to the courses they wish to study. After they have made up their minds they should prepare to enter the college or university as full-time students. If they do not carry the full load (minimum of 12 units) they should hesitate about entering one of the top schools.

That is, if they only want a few university credits, they should enter one of the smaller schools. The reasons for this are twofold. First, the government frowns upon a veteran who only wants a few courses. They say, "maybe the kid just wants to play for a year at the school and pick up some easy money." Next, your top colleges and universities have definite scholastic standings. They demand a high average from any student. Therefore its wiser to enter a smaller school for a year or so if you only want a few courses, and later enter one of the top universities of America.

Twelve units of work are considered full time. When a veteran drops to nine he is listed as a three-quarter time student by the government and university. The government feels he has sufficient free time to do outside work so they deduct a certain amount from his subsistence pay and in some instances they will not pay the entire tuition of a part-time student. These are a couple of other reasons why it's wise to plan your future university career carefully.

All ex-servicemen contemplating entering a university or college should keep these thoughts in mind. Also remember that there are hundreds of state colleges and junior colleges throughout the country where the cost is practically nothing. At these latter schools you can take a few courses and save your certificate of entitlement until you are ready to fully undertake all that goes with entering one of the top universities.

Nine Pound Boy For Cole Family

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cole, Apt. 40-319, announced the arrival of a nine pound baby boy. They have christened him Kenneth William. The baby was born on September 19 at Ross Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Cole have lived in Marin City over a year.

War-time restrictions have been lifted on men's and boys' shirts and pajamas.

More Funds are Voted to Finish Industrial Survey

The much-discussed industrial survey in Marin County was given a "shot in the arm" Monday when the Board of Supervisors voted $500 to engage an engineer to make a final check and report on the survey recently completed in cooperation with the Planning Commission staff. George Goheen, chairman of the Post-war Committee, on behalf of the Industrial Committee, requested the funds to employ H. G. Butler, San Francisco engineer, to do the job.

However, the funds were not allocated until a stiff argument had spent itself. Fred Cairns, secretary of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the Industrial Committee, spoke on behalf of the latter and insisted that the recent survey made public by the Planning Commission "was incomplete, and contained many errors". He was insistent that the work should be done under the direction of his committee. However, the Board overruled him and decided that the executive committee, of which Goheen is chairman, should undertake the task. Board members argued that in view of the fact that there had been differences of opinion between Cairn's committee and the Planning Commission staff, headed by Mary Gilkey, that it would be advisable to have the final survey and recommendations come from an entirely disinterested source, through neutral channels. Cairns was outspoken in his disapproval of the action of the Board.

Harold Engle, engineer retained by the county in a survey of the ammunition project, was injected into the picture when his name was proposed by Supervisor Fusselman, for the survey work. However, in a final vote, Butler was chosen for the important task.

Community Church

The Rev. John Duffy will speak on the topic, "Being Born Again," at the 11 o'clock worship service held at the Marin City Community Church Sunday morning. Special music will be provided by Miss Mona Christiansen, guitarist, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. E. Christiansen. They will play "In the Garden" and "By the Cross."

Sunday School classes are held for young people of all age groups beginning at 9:45 a.m. All services are conducted in the Community Center Bldg.

In an effort to more equitably distribute the available stock of passenger tires allotted for rationing, the OPA has announced that the issuance of new passenger car tire certificates will be limited to replacements for running wheels. Only in exceptional cases will certificates be issued for spares.

Sea-Going Santa's Last Call!

This is the last week in which to prepare that Christmas box for guaranteed delivery by Christmas Day to a soldier, sailor or marine overseas.

October 15, next Monday, is the deadline date for mailing!

Sea-Going Santa, who's in cahoots with the American Red Cross and the military postal services, emphasized the deadline. If it is missed, one American boy beyond the Pacific or Atlantic, sweating it out the hard way now that the fighting is over, his longing for home sure to be most poignant on Christmas Day, may suffer a disappointment no man over there deserves to suffer.

Wherever a service man may be—on dreary foreign station, on his way over, on his way back, or on a hospital ship—he'll get his Christmas package on time, if the deadline is met. That's Sea-Going Santa's guarantee. But it's also his last call!

Marin Painter May Teach Here

The new director of playground activities, Miss Viola McLarnan, reports that her program may soon have the services of artist Robert Anderson. The recreation director is hoping that Mr. Anderson will devote a day or two a week toward conducting special painting classes for children of Marin City.

The following is a schedule of the planned recreation program for the coming week.

1 to 5 p.m., Monday; 10 to 12, 1 to 5 p.m., Tuesday through Friday—Crafts, games, story hour, football, soccer, baseball, basketball, horseshoes.

Movies (Community Bldg.)—Children Saturday, 1 to 3 p.m.; Thursday, 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Adults—Thursday, 8:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Teener Activities (Teeners' Bldg.)—Meetings, Wednesday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Teeners' Dance (Community Bldg.)—Friday, 9 to 11:30 p.m.

The S. R. High School 4-H Club is recruiting new members.

SUPERVISORS ASK TIME FOR FINAL DECISION ON RECREATION PROGRAM

Asking for more time in which to obtain reaction from the public, the Board of Supervisors Monday set over action on the County's recreation program. George Goheen, chairman of the Post-war Citizens Committee appeared before the Board with a request for $15,000 out of County funds to keep the Recreation program in operation until next June 1. The program under which the Recreation setup in Marin has been functioning has been dependent, to a large degree, upon Federal funds, allocated under the Lanham Act as a war measure, the principal function of which was to offer recreation to children whose parents were in defense work, or those who were in the armed forces. Under the Act it was not considered a permanent program.

The cessation of the war does not take away the need of such a program, say those who advocate its continuance, for a big majority of our men and women who donned the uniform of their country are still in the service.

The Lanham Act funds expire October 31 and Goheen asked that provision be made to keep

Illness at Wrights

Doris Jean Wright, age 9, of House 628, became serious ill this past week and was sent to the Santa Clara Hospital in Santa Clara County. The family have lived in Marin City for over two years.

Crossing between intersections is the most frequent cause of pedestrian accidents.

the Recreation program in effect until next June.

Supervisor T. Fred Bagshaw pointed out that this request involved a fundamental change in financing such a program. The Federal program, under the Lanham Act secured funds through a variety of tax sources including corporation tax, excise tax, income tax, cigarette and liquor tax, etc. Under the proposed setup, the responsibility for the program would be shifted entirely on the shoulders of the county, which has only one source of tax revenue, that from taxes on real property.

"It is a question of how far we can go in making real property stand more and more taxes for more and more services," concluded Bagshaw.

The proposal was taken under advisement by the Board for further study.

WOMEN'S PAGE

WOMEN... Are People

By MARGO DICK.

A comparatively new but flourishing organization in Marin County is the Democratic Woman's Forum of Mill Valley, which will celebrate its second anniversary next month.

Miss Winona Douglas, former county newspaper publisher and widely known for her civic and church work, founded the Mill Valley group and interested a number of well-known local women in sponsoring the idea, among them Mrs. Redfern Mason, Mrs. Helen J. McNamara, Mrs. Frederick Thompson, Mrs. Bryant Drake, Mrs. Flodie Watson, Mrs. Paul Thorne, and Mrs. Helen Chesnut.

I went over to Mill Valley a few days ago and interviewed Mrs. Don Stevens, the dark-eyed young matron who is president of the Forum this year. She offered me some tea and then began, very earnestly, to tell me about the Forum.

"We have a constitution, of course," she said, "with all our objectives set forth formally but, to put it simply, I'd say that the Forum is for all those Democrats who would like to find out just why they are Democrats, and just exactly what the Democratic Party stands for."

"I think a great many women have outgrown the habit of voting one ticket or another simply because their fathers or their husbands may vote it," she continued. "Today they seem to want to exercise their own political judgment, make their own political decisions."

"At the Forum we try to help people make up their minds in a very simple way. We get together and think through national and international issues on the grounds that twenty or thirty heads are better than one."

"Then, when we have reached a decision on an issue, we take political action by sending telegrams or letters to our representatives in Congress, or to Sacramento if we are considering a State issue."

Your columnist broke in impertinently to ask if the group ever found itself in disagreement with certain Democratic Congressmen or Senators.

"You bet," she laughed. "Actually we feel that we should function as a pressure group within the Democratic ranks to keep the party living up to the platform on which it was elected."

Mrs. Stevens told me that the Forum alternates its programs by bringing some well-known guest speaker to address the membership some months, and

Belvedere Nursery School To Sponsor 'Wonderland'

The first Saturday in November, the 3rd, will be an important date on the young fry's social calendar, when "A Day in Wonderland" heralds a new fall festivity at the spacious estate of the Russell D. Keils, Snug Harbor, Tiburon. Under the sponsorship of the Belvedere Nursery School, the lovely grounds of the estate will be transformed into an enchanting carnival to please the young and even the younger children and cheer the attending parents as the youngsters frisk through entertaining activities planned for them especially by the Nursery School mothers.

Proceeds from "A Day in Wonderland" will be directed to the treasury of the Belvedere Nursery School for new equipment and maintenance purposes.

Especially appealing to the youngsters will be the boat ride excursions around the picturesque lake, animal rides, the free grab bag, the all-time favorite of fishing for articles. Volunteer photographers will be on hand to take specially posed pictures of the children astride Dobbin, or if it is the skiff that thrills a young lad or lassie a shot of the child at the helm of a row boat ready to shove off from the shore.

School Director Mrs. C. C. Meredith, assisted by Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls, will be in charge of special games and supervised play for the children when they have finished with the features of the day. As a special attraction for the mothers, gaily decorated booths will offer displays of articles to encourage early Christmas gift shopping for the children, including things from trifles for the Christmas stocking to lovely hand-made decorated pinafores for a fashionable miss. As a climax the mothers of the school then having a huge Round Table the next meeting around which the members sit and discuss some particularly vital issue before the Congress or the Legislature, with all the members chiming in. So far, the Round Tables have been exceptionally popular.

Last month the group heard Mr. David Hedley, legislative chairman for the CIO, give Labor's view of "The Full Employment Bill." Next month, to celebrate the second anniversary of the Forum, the group is going to stage a special Round Table meeting.

So, if you happen to be a confused Democrat—and it is a condition of mind which seems to afflict Republicans and Democrats alike these puzzling days—you might drop in at 2 p.m. any first Friday of the month at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley and attend a meeting of the Forum.

Mrs. Stevens says you will like it.

Housewives are urged to continue their war-time practice of saving used kitchen fats. Your butcher will now give you four red points a pound, instead of two, and four cents, for the used fat you turn in to him. Thus you'll be helping yourself as well as your country by continuing to save waste fats.

Mrs. William Mitchell and Mrs. Leo Collin for the sewing department; Mrs. C. C. Meredith as game supervisor; Mrs. Jas. Reed, playground supervision; Mrs. John Bridgman will be food chairman; Mrs. Aaron Jacobson has been appointed chairman of collections for the games, and several fathers have volunteered their services for conducting the pony rides and rowboat excursions.

Special announcements of the affair will shortly be sent to the various nursery school centers of the county, and tickets will soon be on sale for this very special "Day in Wonderland" for the children.

Board Cancels All Taxes on Sausalito Lots

There was a difference of opinion between County Assessor George Hall and District Attorney Al Bagshaw at Monday's meeting of the Board of Supervisors.

A letter from the District Attorney advised the Supervisors that all taxes, current and delinquent, on certain waterfront lots purchased by the City of Sausalito, should be canceled inasmuch as the property was for public use.

Assessor Hall held conflicting opinions, but the Board followed the recommendation of the District Attorney and canceled the taxes.

Here's why Pacific Greyhound Lines has been forced to discontinue operations

1. To avoid a strike Pacific Greyhound Lines offered to submit the union's new wage demands to arbitration. The Company's offer still stands.
2. The union has refused to abide by the War Labor Board's decision of August 24, 1945, fixing wages and working conditions, and has resorted to strike action.
3. Pacific Greyhound Line's drivers receive the highest pay of any bus drivers in the United States. The union that ordered this strike has recently made wage contracts with other bus companies in this territory at wage rates ranging from 10% to 30% lower than those paid by Greyhound.
4. Pacific Greyhound Line's Drivers have received wage increases amounting to over 40% since January 1, 1941, and the union's new demands would result in increases of over 75%.
5. Fifteen months of "standee" and "quickie" strikes, and utter disregard of contract obligations by the union—finally resulted in a complete system-wide strike. The responsibility for the present situation rests solely with the union. This is set forth clearly in the Tenth Regional War Labor Board Panel's report, dated May 18, 1945, which stated:

"Had the standee incident not occurred, the contract dispute could have been settled months earlier. The Panel does not believe that the Company should be penalized for the delay caused solely by the union."

Pacific Greyhound Lines is making every effort to re-establish its transportation services as soon as possible. We are very sorry that we have been forced to inconvenience travelers at a time when transportation is so vital and necessary.

In This Corner

By JOHN DUFFY.

One year ago this past week a great American, Wendell Willkie, died. His death was a sudden and tragic loss not only to America but to the world.

We Should Remember

Most Americans can profit from the example of Wendell Willkie's life. The major portion of his life was devoted to the selfish amassing of power and fortune to himself. However, the last several years of his life were a complete renunciation of these former practices, and a wholehearted devotion to the welfare of the best that America can be.

Until 1940, there was not much in the career of Mr. Willkie that made him different from other successful lawyers and businessmen. For many years he had lived and worked in the Southern States as the head of a powerful private utility company. During this time, his main interest was that of increasing the scope, influence and income of his firm. Whatever work he did of a community or public welfare nature, was made subservient to the company's welfare. He did very little to improve the lot of the working people of the South, or to improve the relationships between the various races of people located in the South while he was there.

Outlook Changes

However, after 1940, Mr. Willkie's viewpoint became much greater in scope, and a great concern for the general welfare became the foremost theme of his life. Something had happened to Wendell Willkie which caused him to place the public interest ahead of the private interest. He became, as it were, a missionary who never tired of spreading the gospel of fair play, tolerance, freedom, equality, brotherhood, and justice. Furthermore, he never feared the consequences of this work to his own career. The last message written by him was a magazine article which stressed the necessity for people of different creeds, races, nationalities and colors in America to live together in a spirit of fair play, honesty, and brotherhood.

Wendell Willkie's influence was not limited to America. When he made his momentous trip around the world, he struck a responsive chord wherever he went. In a most dramatic way, he brought the world—and the peoples of the world—into focus for America. His "One World" has become America's "One World." Like the war and the atomic bomb, it sounded, in a different way, the deathknell for isolationism. No longer would it be possible for America to remain a power unto herself. She must always be concerned about the welfare of her neighbors, including those nations which are backward and undeveloped.

Inspired America

Wendell Willkie inspired the way to the America that we must become if democracy is to be extended to all our citizens and to the peoples of the world. He charted a course for us to follow if the common man is to rise above himself and become the greater man that he can be. And, when he had charted that course for us, he died. He left it for us to follow that course to a better America—the land of liberty, the land of opportunity, and the land of brotherhood.

OPA enforcement agents last week discovered 287 unserviceable tires on the premises of the Federal Rubber Products Company, 545 East 10th Street, Oakland. The 287 tires still on hand at the Oakland firm were impounded by the OPA agents and returned to their source, the J. S. Wood Tire Company, 2801 Schouteau Ave., St. Louis, Missouri.

Teeners Topics

By Peggy Faubel.

Here is your column again with the latest news of what the Teeners are up to. If any of you have news that you want to write for the column, please give it to one of the following girls: Barbara Bowmen, Eleanor Campbell, Peggy Faubel, Carol Husel.

Congratulations are in order for Austen Ned and his new wife, Bernice, who were married in Reno last Friday. And still another bouquet and good luck wish to Lois and Lee, who were married at Reno Oct. 2. They are now living in San Rafael. What's this about all the teeners getting married? Looks like Shirley Temple has started something. We wonder if Mickey knows.

Get-well greetings go to Little Bill, who just came home from Ross Hospital. He broke his collar bone and hurt his head when one of the Marin City fire trucks tipped over at Tiburon Y.

Mousey (that's a name) has returned to Marin City after a trip at sea with the Merchant Marine.

NOSEY NEWS:

Why is it that Alene Veness always goes roller-skating at San Rafael on Friday nights? Do you like skating or the boys, Alene?

The male teeners of Marin City say girls are like socks—they should be changed every day. What do you girls think?

Are our eyes and ears deceiving us, or is Frank Illof really becoming a wolf?

Some of the teeners who have said good-bye to Marin City:

Dolores and Harry O'Neil who have moved to Washington;

Helen and Tom McDaniels, now residing in Colfax, Iowa;

Lynn Draper, formerly active in the teeners' council, has gone to Southern California;

Before winding up these bits and pieces of news we want to tip you off to remember the Friday night dances.

And, by the way, there is to be an extra special dance on Nov. 2, with Phil Shapiro and his San Francisco band. This dance will start at 9 p.m. and last through 12 midnight. Let's all be sure to get to this Nov. 2 dance. Until then, don't forget the regular Friday night dances... see you tonight!

Judy Robertson Comes Home

Two-year-old Judy Robertson, House 11, was released from the Alta Bates Hospital, Oakland, after spending a month undergoing treatment for a broken leg sustained at her grandmother's home in Berkeley.

Judy is the twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robertson, who have lived in Marin City for quite some time. She is now under the care of Dr. Merle Morris at Marin City Medical Center.

The OPA has acted to facilitate pricing of used 1942, 1943 and 1944 model military motor vehicles. A schedule of "when new" prices has been issued, and the used prices will be arrived at by taking certain percentages of the "when new" prices.

Emergency—Help!

The local USO-TA reported this week that there still is a great need for housing or room accommodations for emergency families and service personnel. The director of the USO reveals that daily families are coming to their offices here in Marin City asking for some sort of accommodation. If it is at all possible for any residents to rent, or give a room, with kitchen privileges to an emergency family or a service couple, the local USO would like to be contacted immediately.

Local Need for Car Pool, Now!

As a result of the bus strike several residents have suggested that Marin City form a car pool to help commuters get to work. Those interested in either joining a car pool or offering their car for such a service should contact the local USO. Let's all get together and help each other get to work.

Deferment for Veterans' Tax Is Announced

Discharged veterans unable to pay income taxes within the period of deferment provided in the Soldiers and Sailors Relief Act will be dealt with in the matter of collection in a cooperative and sympathetic manner, James G. Smyth, Collector of Internal Revenue for the First California District, said today in San Francisco.

The period of deferment is six months after the discharge. Partial payment, geared to the financial resources of the servicemen or women will be accepted.

Veterans and returning service personnel who have federal tax problems are invited to consult with the nearest deputy collectors of internal revenue for advice and assistance in preparing income tax returns, the collector said.

No bids were received this week by the Board of Supervisors for surfacing tennis court at Novato, so new call for bids was issued.

Enthusiasm Shown By Duck Reports

According to information released by the Outing Department of the National Automobile Association received from Tule Lake, all accommodations have been booked for some time. While a new hotel is promised for next year, the nearest putting up point at present is at Klamath Falls, Oregon. If you are contemplating making reservations in this area, do so as early as possible. Latet info from Tule Lake area indicates that hunting should be good this fall as ducks and geese are already reported as arriving.

The department also reports that:

Alameda—Ducks are not coming in very well.

Mariposa—Ducks are coming in in increasing numbers.

Mono—About 300 geese noted on Topaz Lake recently.

As the duck season nears, reports will continue to come in from various points, all eagerly looked forward to by duck enthusiasts.

The OPA has put into effect a program that will bring onto the market more low-priced cotton, rayon and woolen clothing, which is a big item in the family budget. To provide greater protection against overcharges, these clothes will carry tags which state the ceiling price.

Ceiling prices for fresh apples grown in California, Idaho, Montana, Oregon and Washington will be increased four cents a bushel, and ceiling prices on apples grown in other states will be increased seven cents a bushel beginning October 1.

Tiburon Frolic For Hallowe'en

Ed Dunn and Arthur Scandroglio have been appointed chairmen for the annual Hallowe'en party sponsored by the Tiburoners' organization, for members and their families. Dinner, dancing and special entertainment will comprise the program, which is set for Saturday evening, October 27th.

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

By VIRGINIA VALE

INGRID BERGMAN'S finished 7½ million dollars' worth of films, all Academy Award material, that haven't been released as yet. Two years ago she did "Saratoga Trunk," with Gary Cooper, but Warners had a lot of war pictures on hand, so "Saratoga Trunk" was held up, may be released in February. Then she did "Spellbound," which may be out soon. After that came "The Bells of St. Mary's," with Bing, due at Christmas time. Now she's making "Notorious." Then she'll make another USO tour through the Pacific area; after that she'll go abroad for "The Scarlet Lily," to be made in Palestine and Jerusalem—it's supposed to be the life story of Mary Magdalene.

Alice Frost, radio's leading shudder-show charmer, has an album filled with horrible photos of herself—about to be murdered, screaming with fright, etc. Ine's signed, "One of my fondest heroines, Boris Karloff." The pictures were taken on every mystery series she has starred in.

Dennis O'Keefe says it's an empty honor that stole up on him as he was finishing his co-starring role in "Getting Gerie's Garter"—the optometrists of Westwood, Calif., voted him the man "best suited to wear glasses"—which he doesn't!

Major Allen Martini, whose Flying Fortress, "Dry Martini," holds the world's record for shooting down 15 German planes in 22 minutes, makes his screen debut as an officer of a B-29 in "The Bamboo Blonde." He was production assistant on RKO's "The Falcon's Alibi," and during his college days was identified with Little Theater groups at Palo Alto.

Producer Edward Small, planning to make "The Life of Valentino," can't decide whether to hand the choice role to a star or an unknown. Unknowns have done all right in big parts—Cornel Wilde in "A Song to Remember," Robert Alda in "A Rhapsody in Blue," Jennifer Jones in "The Song of Bernadette." On the other hand, Paramount gambled—to the tune of a million or so—on Isa Miranda, in "Hotel Imperial," and lost, as did Goldwyn with Anna Sten. Still, Small is inclined to take a chance on the man who'll play Valentino.

Reconversion is here on the air as well as in industry, especially in "Superman." He was doing fine with the atom last year, till war department officials asked him to lay off, for reasons of military security. So now he's set to do things with Kryptonite, more powerful than Uranium, with the problems of establishing peace in the world uppermost in his mind.

Robert Cummings will never forget certain scenes in "The Bride Wore Boots," in which he co-stars with Barbara Stanwyck. They were made on location at Hidden Valley, with the temperature past the 100-degree mark. In the script it was Christmas. So Bob wore a heavy, well-padded suit, and a beard, regardless of the blistering sun—he was being Santa Claus.

Fast part on the part of actor-soldier Patrick Lee landed him a screen role while enjoying a two-week furlough. He took a bus from Camp Roberts to Hollywood, hitchhiked to Warners', and by noon was before the cameras in "Her Kind of Man," with Faye Emerson, Zachary Scott and Dane Clark. He said the best part of the job was wearing a blue serge suit for the first time in over two years.

ODDS AND ENDS—Parkyakarkas is grateful for the publicity—a soldier wrote him from a Louisiana army camp that on

County Health Data

The most prevalent disease throughout the county this week was measles, with 18 cases reported by the Marin County Health Department. There were three cases each of German measles and gonorrhoea; two of chickenpox; two of poliomyelitis; two scarlet fever; one diphtheria; one epilepsy; one septic sore throat; one syphilis, and one tuberculosis in various communities of Marin County.

a certain night recently the password was "Meet me at Parky's" . . . Best kept secret in Hollywood's radio circles was the recent appearance of Bing Crosby's boys on the opening Frank Sinatra program—it was kept for ten days before the broadcast . . . "Mr. District Attorney" leads the list of first fifteen evening "Network Hooperatings" . . . Jerry Colonna's first film role since his return from an overseas tour with Bob Hope is in the Disney "Make Mine Music"—singing "Casey at the Bat."

Bus Strike Fails to Keep Crowds From Grape Festival

Bus strike or no bus strike, thousands gathered on the rolling lawns in the spacious home, under the majestic trees of the Kent estate in Kentfield last Saturday for celebration of the 46th annual Grape Festival of Marin County.

Festival Chairman Mrs. Jerome Tallant reports that gate receipts totaled more than $1850, not including admissions issued to hundreds of festival workers.

Crowds sought after "wares" in the brilliantly decorated booths, sponsored by the clubs and cities throughout the county. The children were delighted by the "Gay Way" of fun and games. The Victor and Oscar booth sold hot dogs and hamburgers by the thousands, while many of the food booths were emptied long before the afternoon wore to a close.

Sausalito's Baby Booth, under the direction of Miss Louise Howland, took in more than $285 during the day.

Highlights on the program included the demonstration show of Guide Dogs for the Blind, Inc., the aquacade put on by children of Sunny Hills Orphanage, Jo-Jo the Clown, who was the center of attraction for the children, the victory garden contest held on the veranda of the Kent home, and the exhibit of art in action, in which numerous Sausalito and other Marin County artists participated.

Money received from the festival will go toward the support of Sunny Hills home in San Anselmo.

Names to Remember Both Old and New

Marin City will take as great an interest in the community as those who have left us.

With the newcomers representing the Army, Navy and Marines, we expect to have reveille any time now. Also, we find that all paths lead to M.C. Lt. Alonzo Groves, House 311; was agreeably surprised to find that a close neighbor in House 299 was Capt. Jack Gilson. They had been together in the African campaign. Then while they continued operations in the various parts of the ETO lost track of each other until they met here. Lieut. Grove is living with his wife and small daughter, at present enjoying a furlough. He is with the Air Transport Command, first pilot of a C-54. Stationed now at Hamilton Field, his activities will take him to the Pacific in the future.

Lt. Nick Shanta, with his wife and baby daughter, have moved into Apt. 40-317. Both the lieutenant and his wife come from Barberton, Ohio. Prior to his arrival in Marin City, he was stationed at Presque Isle, Me. He resumes work as maintenance engineering officer at Hamilton Field.

An enthusiastic welcome was given to "Mike" Smith, former chairman of the Marin City Council. Mike is the husband of Dorothy Smith, one-time editor of The Marin Citizen. He came in from Fort Benning, Ga., where he won his sharpshooter's medal, and will stay here two weeks on furlough, maybe giving son Paul a few pointers. The Council has missed that "fightin' Irish" spirit that Mike used to bring with him as they waged their battles for the improvement of M.C.

Melvyn F. Miller, seaman 2/c, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Miller of Marin City, is attached to the USS Arenac, an attack transport, operating in the Pacific. Miller has seen duty from Hawaii to the Philippines, including the Marshall, Caroline and Marianna Islands. Seaman Miller is looking forward to an honorable discharge so that he may complete his education.

Leaford Hammond, from the submarine Loggerhead, has just arrived in M.C. He is anxiously awaiting the arrival of his wife and four children from Carlton, Ga., the two-months-old baby he has never seen, as this is his first visit to the States in eight months. Mrs. Hammond stayed for a time on the West Coast to be near her husband, and when he left last March, went to live with his family in Georgia. The submarine base is now at Tiburon where he is stationed.

Captain and Mrs. William Word are newcomers, arriving here from Dallas, Texas. They hail from Missouri originally. Captain Word spent 15 months overseas in the ETO. He will be in and out of Hamilton Field while Mrs. Word remains here with their two children.

S/Sgt. William James, now discharged after three years of overseas service, which included Ireland, Africa and Italy, ended a total of four years in the Army. He plans to take a well-deserved rest before beginning civilian activities again.

Church Services

The following schedule of services is compiled and presented by the Religious Center for those interested in church services throughout the week:

Sunday, 10 to 12 noon, Church of Christ; Lee Turner, evangelist.

Sunday, 12 to 2 p.m., First Missionary Baptist; Rev. W. Franklin, pastor.

Sunday, 3 to 5 p.m., Church of God (not Tongues Movement); B. Gray Stewart, pastor.

Sunday, 5:30 to 7:30 p.m., Church of God in Christ; J. D. Newman, pastor.

Sunday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Church of Christ; Lee Turner, evangelist.

Monday, 7 to 8 p.m., Child Evangelism Bible Class; Mrs. C. H. Olson.

Tuesday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Church of God in Christ; J. D. Newman, pastor.

Wednesday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Church of God; B. Gray Stewart, pastor.

Thursday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., First Missionary Baptist; Rev. W. Franklin, pastor.

Friday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Church of God in Christ; J. D. Newman, pastor.

Saturday, 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., Catholic Catechism; Sisters of the Holy Family.

Saturday, 1 to 4 p.m., Bible School for children; Mrs. B. Gray Stewart.

Humanity's V

The military victory has been won, but there is another victory still to be won—a victory for humanity.

Millions of our armed forces are still overseas, many more are at bases within the country. Many of them will be still in service for months, even years. Thousands are in hospitals, at home and overseas, maimed, broken, blinded, because they helped to win that military victory. For all of these, the victory that must now be won is the victory over boredom and neglect. The morale building services of U.S.O. made possible by the War Chest, must be continued!

Thousands of seamen are still delivering supplies and personnel overseas. For them the victory that must now be won is the victory over boredom, neglect, family difficulties, and the evils of war-torn ports in the far corners of the world. A War Chest agency looks after their welfare.

Hundreds of millions of victims of war in Europe, China and the Philippines are homeless, underfed, underclothed. For them the victory that must be won is the victory over despair—the despair that could lead to anarchy and sow the seeds of another war.

In our own community, there are those unable to finance needed medical care; there are neglected children, unguided youth. For them the victory that must be won is the victory over neglect and, for the youths, over the temptations that lead to delinquency.

All of these victories are within our grasp—but they must be financed. The War Chest Victory Drive, now under way, is the medium through which you can help finance them. You give only once, so give generously to the local War Chest Victory Drive!
